13345 - Ruling on giving infertile women fertility drugs so that they can get pregnant

the question

Can muslims take fertility drugs?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

It is permissible for a man to treat himself with permissible medicines which may have an effect on diseases he is suffering, whether the problem is infertility or something else, if there is the hope that these medicines will have a beneficial effect and will not cause much harm to the body.