

209 - Why Does Fajr Have Two Adhans?

the question

How many adhans are there for fajr? If people are in the mosque do you still say "prayer is better than sleep" I heard it is a biddah to do this. Apparently there is a hadith to this effect. Could you send something?

Summary of answer

Fajr has two Adhans:

- The first is called before dawn to prepare those awake or sleeping for Fajr.
- The second is called at the actual time of Fajr to announce the prayer's start.

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

The Two Adhans for Fajr: A Prophetic Practice

There were two Adhans for Fajr prayer at the time of Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

- The first Adhan was just before dawn for those who are awake performing night prayers so as for them to either rest for Fajr or have food if they intend to fast the next day, and for those who are asleep in order they may begin to arouse and be ready for Fajr (since it is preferred as early as possible).
- The second Adhan at the actual time of Fajr to indicate the appropriate time and to call people to the prayer, among other benefits of the Adhan.

"Prayer is Superior to Sleep": Its Role in Fajr Adhan

Regarding the second point, the majority of the scholars agree that the statement (within Adhan for Fajr) "prayer is superior to sleeping" should be said in the second call to prayer.

Hence, the caller should adhere to the saying phrase and recite it even if people are inside the mosque. It contains benefits which might slip one's mind. Moreover, it reminds people of the very fact: "prayer is superior to sleep" which concerns the immediate day as well as all forthcoming days.

Muslims benefit from it even when they are already in the mosque and gain the reward of repeating it after Mu'adhdhin, as per the saying of the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him): "If you hear the Mu'adhdhin, say [i.e, repeat] as he says" which is an authentic Hadith.

Perhaps women and children who live near the mosque may benefit as well, and even the Muslims among the Jinn. Additionally, there may be some people who feel sleepy inside the mosque or those who have nodded off while sitting.

Thus, Muslims should preserve and practice this Sunnah and not abandon it.

May Allah make us all successful in following the Sunnah and vigilant in adhering and preserving it.

And Allah knows best.