26217 - Selling government airline tickets if one travels by land

the question

Is it permissible to sell government airline tickets that were given to me, because I traveled by land?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

there is nothing wrong with selling the tickets if you have no need of them, unless your traveling by land will cause some delay in your work. In that case it would only be permissible for you to travel by the means approved, i.e., by air.