

85000 - Ruling on selling cell phone with cameras

---

the question

Is it permissible to sell cell phones which include cameras?.

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

The cameras which come with cell phones may be used for permissible purposes, or they may be used for haraam purposes. In such cases, the principles are as follows:

1-There is nothing wrong with selling it to someone whom it is known or thought most likely that he will use it for permissible purposes.

2-It is not permissible to sell it to someone who it is known or thought most likely that he will use it for haraam purposes.

3-If it is not known, then one must decide based on what usually happens. If most people in the country use it for permissible purposes, then it is permissible to sell it, otherwise it is not.

This applies to selling the phone itself, and also to selling televisions, video equipment, makeup, women's clothes, and other things that may be used for good or evil purposes.

See also question no. 39744 and 82551.

And Allaah knows best.